

Marin Independent Journal Reader's Forum for December 7

Two thumbs up, and two down, on MC lighting

The senior county planner for Marin County who waded through volumes of information regarding the proposal to install night lights at Marin Catholic High School should get two thumbs up.

Whether you are for or against the lighting, the information speaks for itself. Great job. Marin residents should now have a better idea regarding the issuance of a permit.

But those from Marin Catholic are spending money like there is no tomorrow to make sure they get the 80-foot-tall night lights. Never once did these same individuals inform the public they have been using generated power lighting next to the field.

The school's PR campaign is a disaster and gets double thumbs down.

— Ron Naso, Kentfield